DR. HULL'S Fever and Ague Pills, A certain and speedy cure for Fever and Ague.

THE extensive prevalence in this country of that troublesome disease FEVER AND AGUE, or IN-TERMITTENT FEVER, and the vast amount of suffering and distress which it has occasioned, has naturally led to the adoption of many compounds and mixtures for its mitigation and relief. Among south east quarter of section fifteen; and the north these some few have been found temporarily benefitownship twenty, range two east; containing FOUR in many instances operating as stimulants to the dis-HUNDRED ACRES, more or less. ease intended to be cured. In other cases the deleterious nature of the ingredients used in these empyrical compounds, has been found extensively prejudicial to the constitution, not unfrequently resulting in other affections of a highly dangerous character.

It must be evident to all persons of reflection, that FEVER AND AGUE, to be treated successfully, must be approached scientifically, and with a full knowledge of the 'peculiar character of the disease, and particularly of the leading causes of its appearance. Though differing materially in many of its features from other fevers, INTERMITTENT FE-VER, OR FEVER AND AGUE, is almost always accompanied by a deranged and sometimes an irritable condition of the digestive apparatus. This condition is indicated by a quick pulse, thirst, pain in the head and loins, and other evidences of fever .-To afford the desired relief by the adoption of a medicine calculated to operate upon the digestive organs, remove the afflicting disease, and correct and improve the tone of the stomach, the most earnest attention has recently been directed by several medical gentlemen of extensive experience, and the result of the investigation is the adoption of the preparation here recommended as HULL'S PILLS, which having been prepared with the sole reference to this particuis admirably adapted to restore the deranged organs of the system to a healthful state, and of course to remove, simultaneously, both the disease and its causes.

In renewing the healthy action of the digestive organs, the effect of this medicine is to operate in a highly beneficial manner upon diseases originating in similar causes with Fever and Ague. these may be classed, Bowel Complaint, Dysentery, Heart-burn, Flatulency of the bowels, Want of Appetite, Night-Sweats, Water-Brash, and that most an infallible cure in all cases, however severe; giving relief in a very few minutes, and the control of the cure of the Tooth-Ache, can with confidence recommend it as ingrelief in a very few minutes, and the cure in all cases, however severe; giving relief in a very few minutes, and the cure of the cur
